in all she spent roughly one-quarter what she would have in the United States.
in 2002, more than 99 of the state's 1,520 federally defined public water systems had complied with drinking water regulatory requirements.