I actually do agree with other commenters that the cop will probably lie and say that a half-down window is a threat to his safety but that he just didn’t want to tell her that.

Advertised as an all-electric car that could drive 50 miles on its lithium battery, GM addressed concerns.

Dave has tried cases and argued appeals in state and federal courts in a number of different jurisdictions.